Anybody Looking for Zoo? Inquire of Uncle Sam

New York.—The government has something worse than a white elephant on its hands—four monkeys, two apes, cats, two squirrels, a fox, two police dogs, 100 parrots, and canaries and 912 bullfinches. The embryonic zoo arrived recently from Germany, consigned to a local importer for exhibition and sale. The customs service claims the consignment was undervalued by $2,500 and, pending adjudication of the dispute, has removed the shipment to a storage warehouse.

WISCONSIN TOBACCO MARKET.

Editorial.—The Wisconsin Tobacco Market.—While very little is said on the street about the movement of Wisconsin leaf out of the state, some sales are effected all the time. In fact, the buyers when approached say that the 1921 leaf-out is pretty well cleaned up as far as the bundle goods is concerned, and the 1922 keeps going. In the northern section clear leaf finds an outlet to pick anybody's choice, leaving a decent percentage of binder leaf in it. In the southern section most of the 1921 sales now made are stemming lots going at about 7 cents.

Meanwhile the growers are busy getting their small grain into the ground and preparing and stemming plant beds. The season is late and slow and the farmers will be crowded during the next weeks to get the crops into the soil.

The work of organizing the tobacco growers into a pool and sales organization is occupying the interest of quite a few preliminary meetings for the organization of the big drive for membership in May are held in the packing centers. As a growers' movement, it is a very real thing, keeping their hands off, looking after their own affairs.

The tone in the market for old leaf is a little better. Mr. Hubbell sold a packing last week and inquiries are coming in from various sources. They have no information to give out until the sale is made.

A lot of news of general interest to Wisconsin tobacco men is the report that in the reorganization of the Barle Tobacco company, after the death of F. E. Barle, the son, A. J. Barle, has been elected treasurer to succeed his father, and Hugh McInnes is general manager. This insures the continuance in the future of the policy maintained by the company in the past. J. A. Bloch of the Bloch Brothers Tobacco company remains the president of the Barle Tobacco company.

OUT NEWLYWEDS FROM UNIVERSITY

Delavan Girl and Husband Appeal to Faculty After Action of Deans.

With the explosion late Thursday from the University of Wisconsin, of Robert Johnson, Beaver Dam, and his bride, nee Doris Moses, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Moses, Delavan, the couple has started a fight to continue their education at Madison. They will petition the faculty committee.

Johnson was called before Dean Scott Goodnight and Mrs. Johnson before Dean Louise Vardian after the secret of the marriage at Rockford Feb. 1, without notification of their parents, had leaked out. For three months the two have lived separately. The near death of the bride's brother, Clifford, who was overcome by gas Sunday, lead to the news becoming known. The groom is a sophomore and the bride a junior.

"We see no reason why we should be expelled," both are reported as saying. "We have done nothing wrong by getting married and shall ask to be continued in the university."

Last year two students who were married in Chicago during the spring vacation, and whose marriage was kept a secret for some time, were allowed to complete their university work.

"Both have been requested to withdraw from the University of Wisconsin," Dean Goodnight announced Thursday night. "The university is opposed to clandestine marriages. If these young people had been married and had not kept the ceremony secret, all would have been well. The mothers of Wisconsin would not send their daughters to the University of Wisconsin if the seal of approval were placed on secret marriages."

BIG MEETING OF WOMEN IS CLOSED

Responsibility Stressed at Two-Day Convention at Lake Geneva.

By MRS. ABBIE HELMS
"Responsibility" was the keynote of the convention of women's clubs held the past two days at Lake Geneva.

It pervaded the address of the state president, Mrs. J. C. Chandler, Racine, who emphasized the relationship of each member with the work of the state federation. It was the underlying thought of Mrs. S. Richards who presented the general outline of plans of the General Federation, and it was the inspiration of the evening address by Rev. C. H. Newman who dwelt in the duty of American citizens. It gave the earnest address of the district president, Mrs. G. E. Crooley, Milton, who pointed to the work of the 20 years' work of the district federation and the serious message of Miss Abbie Marjott in her address on the responsibility of the mother.

Women's clubs in a community can be relied upon to back all progressive movements, said Miss Marjott. "Wherever you find a town library, a community center, places where child welfare is promoted and where music, art, civic betterment, sanitation and adequate public utilities are provided, here you will know there are enterprising women's clubs."

Two New Clubs Admitted
The address of Mrs. Crooley, Thursday morning, noted briefly some of the outstanding events of the past few years in district work. Matters pertaining to the home, church and school, are of prime importance to women, she showed, in their relation to the environment of the child. Declaring these factors are those in which women are most interested, she pointed to the fine colleges and normal schools included in this district. Two new clubs were admitted at the present meeting she said, the Clinton Century club and Edgerton City Federation of Women's clubs.

"Children should be taught to help their mothers," said Mrs. Crooley. showed that clubs include has been felt on legislation. Mrs. H. S. Richards, General Federation director in her address Wednesday, stated briefly the scope of the work of that organization with its 2,000,000 members in 47 states, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands, Philippines, and even in Canada. It is non-political, and non-sectarian she showed, and a source of strength in making for better conditions in community life. She described the house for permanent headquarters purchased recently in Washington.

for them," said Miss Abbie Marjott in an address on the "First Seven Years of a Child's Life," Thursday afternoon.

"They should not have unpleasant memories, or wrong nerve impressions left on their sensitive minds to affect them through life," she emphasized. "The first years of a life belong to a mother, and it is her highest task, to so mould that entity, that it may not go wrong through the ensuing years."

Edward Lynde spoke briefly to the convention of the work of the State Conference of Social Welfare; Miss Long, of the Library University commission, of the importance of county libraries; and Mrs. Mary Morgan of Madison, of the child welfare special made possible by the Sheppard-Towner bill.

Reports From Counties
Brief reports were given by the county chairmen, Mrs. G. G. Colony, Evansville, for Rock county; Mrs. J. H. Humphrey, Whitewater, for Walworth; Mrs. H. B. Edwards, Eagle, for Waukesha; Mrs. W. W. Dickey, Racine, for Racine and Mrs. T. W. Ashley, for Kenosha.

Janesville was represented on Thursday by 14 delegates, representing the four federated clubs.

Mrs. T. W. Nuzum gave the report for the Art League, of which she is president; Mrs. F. H. Farris, worth for the Athens Club, of which she is secretary; Mrs. Chas. Sanborn of the Philomathian club, president; and Mrs. W. F. Tallman of the O. E. S. study class.

PUBLIC ASKED TO AID U. S. WORKERS

Cunningham Calls for Observance Here of Postal Improvement Week, May 1-6.

Next week will be observed in this city, at the same time as in the entire country, as Postal Improvement week, when both employees of the postal department and the public in general will benefit from efforts of all to improve the service. Employees will work harder than usual in getting out the mail and doing the usual work in the office, and those sending letters and parcels are asked to closely follow the rules in order to make service better all over the country. It is hoped to set a standard during these seven days to be lived up to the year around.

The week has been set aside by Postmaster General Robert Work. Through the postal bulletin, received daily at all offices, he has spread information and given plans to make the week a success.

Postmaster J. J. Cunningham has made the following statement: "Three hundred thousand employees of the postal service will strive to be 100 per cent efficient next week. And having once attained a highly efficient standard will thereafter endeavor to maintain that standard. Every carrier, every clerk, the supervisory officials at this office and the postmaster have reviewed their past work, have thought and talked over what improvement each one can make in his work to serve the public better, with more cheerfulness and more helpfulness, and each promises the public the best service of which he is capable."

Public Can Help
 "And now we ask the public (1) to have and locate mail receptacles at convenient places for the carrier to deposit mail on delivery; (2) to well wrap and pack and address and fully stamp each piece of mail you send; (3) manufacturers and merchants will mail as early and often as they conveniently can, large mailers will face and tie their first class mail in bundles; (4) rural patrons will keep their mail boxes in good condition."

Listen, World!

They've erected a statue to Clivia. Virtue—and made it a MAN! Forthwith the feminine countryside breaks into sharp yelps of anguish. A Man Virtue! Whoever heard of such a thing!

Well, why not a man? Whence this idea that only women should occupy pedestals? It's an old idea. I grant you, and one which is firmly rooted in the heads of nine out of 10 women. Boldly stated it is this—women think they are better than men. They think they're born that way—that there's something about being a woman which automatically makes them of finer ethical caliber. They may admit that man is stronger or, in rare cases, wiser. But Gooder—I should say not!

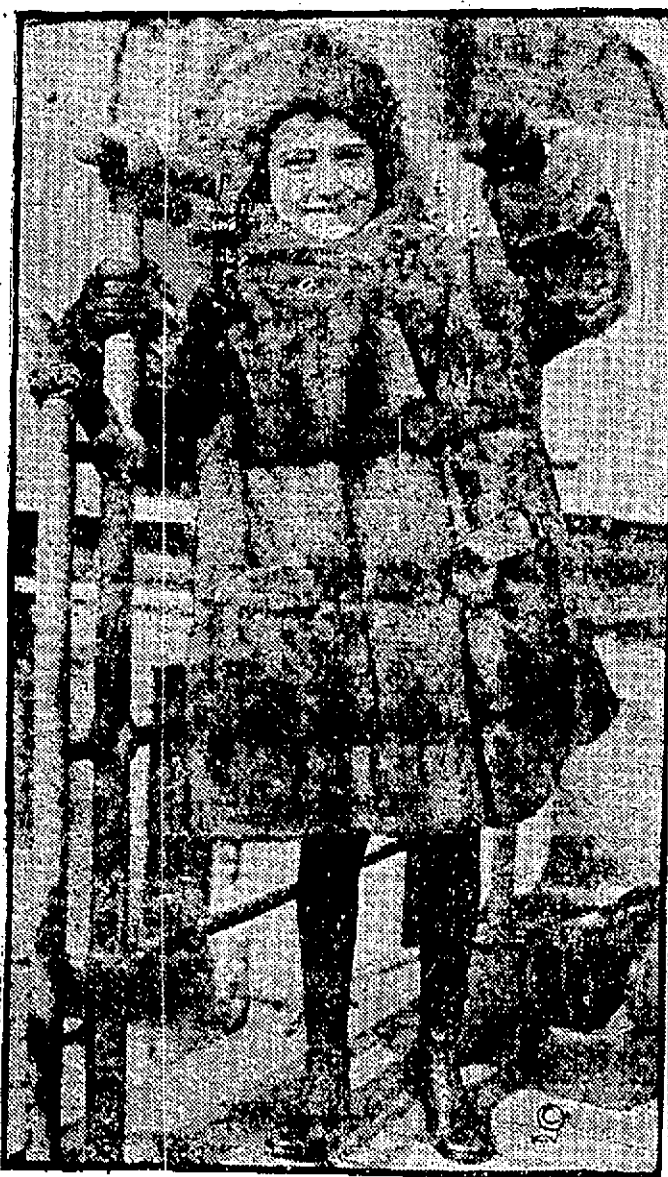

Now I'm a woman and I'm just as keen on placing hats on my blonde murel as the next one, but I simply can't subscribe to this better-than-man theory. It's too silly. I believe that the sexes start at equal distances from the Peary Throat—and that it's a good long sprint for either one. There's just as much Old Eve in woman as there is Old Adam in man, and it makes an equally potent home brew. This idea that men are innately coarser than women really refers to but one attribute of the species; which is the fact that the natural man is apt to prefer mates and the natural woman has a liking for one. That isn't man's fault. It's Nature's. And no decent man or woman like that for any moral reason whatever. She was simply looking out for the next generation. According to Nature, man's polygamy and woman's monogamy serve the same end. So that's that.

In all the other things of the spirit, which count infinitely more than these hungerings of the flesh, show me where man is any lower than woman. In bravery, in humor, in tolerance, in generosity in honor to the king and fairness to the individual, why hasn't he as much right to the pedestal as she? He has.

WHY SHOULDN'T MAN BE PLACED UPON A PEDESTAL?

DAUGHTER OF FORMER ANNA GOULD NARROWLY ESCAPES ELLIS ISLAND TRIP

Violette Helene De Talleyrand-Perigord.

Little seven-year-old Violette Helene De Talleyrand-Perigord, daughter of the Duchess of Talleyrand, arrived in New York on the S. S. Paris. Little Violette's mother, the duchess, was formerly Anna Gould, and it is reported in Paris society circles that the duke and duchess will end their marital troubles in the divorce courts. Because of a change in the time of her arrival Mrs. Finley Shepard, her aunt, was not at the dock to meet her and authorities were on the point of sending the child to Ellis Island when relatives appeared.

PREDICTS 50 PCT. FALLING OFF IN BADGER WHISKEY

(By Associated Press.)
 Milwaukee—A falling off of about 50 per cent in the amount of whiskey sold in Wisconsin in 1922, as compared with 1921, was predicted by Edgar S. Read, associate federal prohibition director. Mr. Read likewise estimated that there would be a reduction of about 25 per cent in the number of doctors' prescriptions for whiskey issued.

"The principal reason for the reduction in the amount of whiskey will be the fact that fewer counterfeit prescriptions are being passed in Wisconsin this year than last," said Mr. Read. "Druggists have become more careful in filling prescriptions." The amount of whiskey sold in Wisconsin by its 300 retail druggists in 1921 was approximately 425,000 gallons.

MOTHER CHARGES FOSTER PARENTS ALIENATED LOVE OF HER CHILDREN

Mrs. Mabel Gunther and her two children, Henrietta and Charles.

Two hundred thousand dollars for the love and affection of her two children, Henrietta, fifteen, and Charles, thirteen, is what Mrs. Mabel Gunther asks in her suit against Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vietor. She alleges that the children came into possession of the Vietors under a codicil to the will of their grandmother, which left them an annual income and made the Vietors trustees, and that they have alienated the children's affection. She charges the Vietors plan to take the children to Germany and bring them up as Germans. Mrs. Gunther lives in Orange, New Jersey.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR.

Charley Pierce, the local attorney who has been handling a few knock-outs lately, will not be found around Janesville three weeks hence. He told the world about it in court. His address will be cure of the Kentucky Derby at Lexington.

When the annual grade school field meet comes off in June, those in charge should not forget to include the girls. It is still early at some thought should be given to events for them. The playground season last year brought out some surprises and showed that the girls must be given their opportunity hereafter.

Days of spring fever haven't arrived yet but when they come, what? An El Paso man says if you want to avoid it get out and exercise. You had better start now and get the habit before you suddenly find yourself with the fever. For when you get it you don't want to do anything.

How's this one. A tutor has been sent with the Hamilton College institute track team to the Penn relays Friday and Saturday. When not training, the athletes are studying. No time lost.

An Eastern coach—who unfortunately does not give his name—answers the college authorities who have come out against the hiring of professional coaches. He says that if the professors were to give us much time to teaching as coaches do to training, colleges would profit by greater efficiency. The point is rather far fetched but it indicates there must be middle ground between these factions.

If you would discover the sportsman's of a man ask him after he or his team lost to explain. Some will complain. Others will knock their comrades. Others will remain quiet. A few will praise their opponents.

Fox River Valley league teams barred from playing with Sheboygan which is accused of harboring contract jumpers.

An innovation in college circles will be a football game between candidates for the Minnesota team for benefit of students.

Kerr of the White Sox, Leonard of the Tigers, Schmidt of the Pirates and Roush of Cincinnati—all boldous—may get permanent dismissal from major league ball. Brewers play first home game of season Friday.

Chicago, Toledo being the opponents. With a homer and a single, Ray Grimes won for the Cubs, 6-4, over St. Louis.

Johnny Evans made his debut as a White Sox but the game ended 6-6 when Cleveland had to catch a train.

The Mackmen used three pitchers against the Yankees and lost, 10-6.

Eight substitutes were ordered off the bench by Umpire Carey as Chicago routed three pirate pitchers, 8-5. Giant and Yankee owners start war against gambling in the stands.

Miss Suzanne Longlen, France, will meet Mrs. Mollie Matthey at Paris in June.

Eighty-five teams entered in Women's national bowling meet opened at Toledo Friday.

One thousand contestants from 150 high schools enter Chicago track meet May 27.

Widening of Golf Club Road Will Halt Danger and Give Parking Space

Elimination of a dangerous curve and providing parking space for 75 motor cars is part of the plan for improving the Janesville Country club this summer. Purchase of a point of land on the eastern side of the grounds from Mat Conway has made this possible.

Work has already started on grading for this project. The entrance point to the grounds have been removed and the approach widened. This will permit the entrance or exit of three autos at a time whereas in the past it has been barely possible for one machine to pass through the gate.

Thursday witnessed the flashiest game so far in the inter-class baseball race of Janesville high school. The freshmen continued their wild dash for the pennant, but the sophs were close on their tails and forced the game into three extra innings. The fresh, working behind Pitcher Schiefelbein, finally took the bacon, 8 to 7.

Schiefelbein is looked upon as the best prospect for the twirling post of the regular Blue squad. He did not go the full way Thursday in order to save his arm after the heavy work of the week. "Mike" Dawson finished the game.

The feature was a three bagger by Snyder, cleaning the sacks of two men.

HOWARD PLANS TARIFF FOR FARMS

An Equal Protection With Manufacturers' Essential Feature.

The American Farm Bureau Federation is insistent that no tariff be passed which will discriminate against the American farmer. The Farm Bureau goes even further and will ask for farm products just as high a protective tariff as the manufacturer of raw products receives.

President J. H. Howard is just back from a series of tariff conferences in Washington. He announced that the American Farm Bureau Federation must see to it that agriculture receives its just recognition. Many of our agricultural commodities are produced in surplus and we must meet the world market. This is particularly true of cotton, wheat, corn, and vegetable oils. On such commodities as these a tariff is only helpful in securing a price stabilization.

Our Surplus Corn.

"Our largest and most important crop is perhaps corn. We always have produced a surplus of it. It is not infrequently, however, for a cargo of corn to be brought into one of our ports from Argentina and used as a lever to depress the market out of all proportion to the volume of corn brought in. Hence, while we meet the world market on corn, on the long swing a tariff which would prevent dumping would eliminate to some extent violent temporary and uneconomic market fluctuations. The same is true of a large number of other products.

"The American farmer is perhaps more interested in vegetable oil than in any other one commodity, because it is a product or by-product of cotton, corn, live stock, and milk. The present tariff bill carries a tariff on coconut and some other vegetable oils, but it allows copra, which is dry coconut from which oil is pressed, to come in free. The result would be, of course, that any benefit from tariff on coconut oil would be violated.

An "Even-up" Policy.

"Using this as an example we have determined a policy by which we will demand that if coconut oil is protected the products from which coconut oil might be extracted must also be protected. If, on the other hand, coconut oil, or the products from which it is made, are not both are unprotected, then the products which are manufactured from that oil must also be on the free list. The principal of these products is soap, which carries from 5 to 30 per cent protection. This principle, illustrated by the oil schedule, will apply to hide and leather goods and all other commodities.

"So far as a high or low schedule may be concerned, the farmer probably has much more to lose by high tariff on the things which he buys than he ever could hope to gain by any tariff on his own commodities. Our economists have all reported convincingly on that point. There may possibly be some exceptions to it.

The Farm Bureau stands for tariff on agricultural products equivalent to the tariff granted to the manufacturers of our products. The farmer will submit to no tariff which works either directly or indirectly to the disadvantage of agriculture.

STURGEON BAY, TO RUN FOR SENATOR
BUSINESS MAN WILL SUB-MIT NAME TO CON-FERENCE.
HITS LA FOLLETTE
Senior Senator Autocratic Boss,
Appealing to Class
Hated, Charge.

Sturgeon Bay.—The first announced candidate for United States senator in opposition to Robert M. La Follette is Leatham D. Smith, Sturgeon Bay. Mr. Smith announced he will lay his candidacy before the citizens' republican state conference meeting in Milwaukee, June 1, and will support "We are confronting a political situation in this state probably the most critical in its entire history," said Mr. Smith.

Senator Leads Radicals
"The voter is just awakening to the condition of things on every side. He sees the radicals presenting an almost unbroken front. He sees, acting as their leader, the man to whom he should be able to turn in this hour of political peril, the senior United States senator. The voter is confronted with the spectacle of the senior senator appealing to class hatred and greatly complicating the difficult economic problems after the war. A program of protest, with nothing constructive to offer to meet the serious problems of the times, is the senior senator's platform. We find this man assuming the role of an autocratic boss, hand picking a clique of candidates behind closed doors."

Contrast in Conference
"In sharp contrast to this action is that of the citizens' republican state conference, in holding a state-wide conference which will meet in Milwaukee June 1. To this meeting will come 2,000 delegates and alternates selected in open meeting. "Believing that I am serving the best interest of my state, I submit my candidacy for nomination for United States senator to this conference for endorsement. If the people through this conference, decide they want me as their candidate, I will bow to their judgment and support whoever may be endorsed.

Article Covers Question
"There has recently been published in the state press an article written by me entitled, 'La Folletteism as the Big Issue in Wisconsin,' which thoroughly covers the question."

This announcement by Mr. Smith will, it is expected, be followed by others who aspire to the republican nomination for this position. Mr. Smith is one of the leading business men of Sturgeon Bay, being the head of a large stone quarry and crushing business and ship-yard.

INCOME TAXES DUE
IN STATE OFFICES
MAY 1, ANNOUNCEMENT
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—Income tax payments are to be made to the state treasury May 1, the tax commission announced Thursday. The amount of revenue to be derived this year from application of the regular state assessment against earnings of its individuals and corporations has not yet been definitely established.

In 1921, over $7,000,000 in income tax was collected after the personal property taxes had been deducted, with only ten per cent of the amount, however, going to the state, 70 per cent to municipalities and 20 per cent to counties.

With large incomes in 1920 and lower personal property offsets it is expected that the income tax will be largely increased this year. Surpluses will be collected for the soldiers' educational bonus and the teachers' retirement fund.

THE KU KLUX RUNS
OKLAHOMA CITY
Shawnee Citizens' Petition for Grand Jury Investigation of Government.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Oklahoma City.—A petition for a grand jury investigation of the Ku Klux Klan at Shawnee, supplemented by an exposure of alleged activities of the order, has been submitted by taxpayers of Pottawatomie county to District Judge Hal Johnson at Shawnee. Judge Johnson admitted the petition had been presented and his only comment was he would call a grand jury "when I get ready."

What was purported to be the official roster of the Ku Klux Klan at Shawnee, with other records of the organization which were reported to have disappeared several days ago, were presented to Gov. J. E. A. Robertson Saturday, with a copy of the petition, although a statement from the governor's office today said the Shawnee situation had no connection with the issuance of a general order by Robertson, made public yesterday, barring members of the Ku Klux Klan from the Oklahoma national guard.

New Hints on Teaching Given
BY JOSEPHINE NELSON
Beloit H. S. Graduate

"A successful teacher must have definite aims or objectives for the class period," stated Miss Bertha M. Rogers, supervisor of Janesville city grades, in a talk at the Rock county training school, Tuesday. The success of a teacher depends on her ability to make definite plans of procedure, recognize differences in children, reduce skills to the essentials, and to establish cooperative methods in carrying on the classwork.

Miss Rogers emphasized that children's minds are fixed instruments which cannot be changed, but that teachers can teach children how to use their minds with their hereditary equipment to greater and greater advantage. Each child possesses varying individual skill possibilities, and it is the teacher's duty to develop these as far as may be. There are several necessary and vital skills, a few of which Miss Rogers stressed in her talk. Skill in silent reading, in the fundamentals of arithmetic, in spelling, in oral English, in written English, were all mentioned.

The reason for using certain types of subject-matter in teaching was clearly explained by Miss Rogers. Through the use of suitable material the children are led to draw conclusions concerning present day problems. The content of the curriculum should be determined by carefully selected facts, for upon the character of the knowledge taught, much depends in child development.

During the class period, questions asked by the teacher should stimulate declined to affirm or deny the report of his membership in the order, according to the paper.

Document Tells of Flogging
The document purporting to reveal some of the alleged activities of the Klan points out that nearly 20 persons within the last six months have been seized by armed mobs, usually disguised and taken to the outskirts of Shawnee, "where they were unmercifully beaten and whipped."

The governor's order calls upon all officers and men of the guard affiliated with any organization, whose principles and purpose might conflict with their duty to the state and nation, to immediately forswear the organization or get out of the guard.

questions by the pupils. Children should be asked to repeat what everyone in the class has studied. Good class work calls for free and spontaneous attention. Miss Rogers emphasized the teacher's preparation of the work including the problems presented and the organization of the subject matter.

It is the teacher's duty to discover personalities and to give them the proper individual consideration. The individuals should be taught in groups and all should cooperate as a unit. Some of the work done by different groups in Janesville schools were shown as good examples of what groups can do.

Miss Rogers stated the aims of the teacher must be worked out in terms of the abilities it is desired to develop in the child. The ultimate end of the class work is the fitting and expanding of the soul life of the child to a larger and larger field of appreciation and understanding. The talk gave the young student-teachers illuminating glimpses of the wonderful possibilities of the class period or of the study period, when a teacher really understands the significance and the value of her work in terms of individual growth and development.
